FEATURED KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Monica Lewinsky

"Click with Compassion"

Monica Lewinsky is a social activist, a global public speaker, a contributing editor to Vanity Fair and a consultant. She advocates for a safer social media environment and addresses such topics as digital resilience + reputation, privacy, cultivating compassion, overcoming shame and equality.

Monica's lens for these societal issues is focused by her myriad unique and profound experiences: working in government -- both in the White House and the Pentagon; the investigation that resulted from her time in Washington, D.C.; involvement in media projects as both producer and subject; as an entrepreneur and designer; and lastly, education. She graduated with a degree in Psychology from Lewis & Clark College (Portland, Oregon) and, living abroad for graduate school, earned a Master's degree in Social Psychology from the London School of Economics and Political Science.

In 2014, Lewinsky authored an essay, titled "Shame and Survival", for Vanity Fair in which she overlapped personal experiences and cultural observations (June, 2014). The piece was nominated for a National Magazine Award.

In March, 2015, she was a speaker at the annual TED Conference in Vancouver. Her speech, "The Price of Shame" has been viewed over 10 million times. She has also spoken at the Forbes 30 Under 30 Summit and gave the Ogilvy + Inspire Lecture at Cannes Lions.

Working with global telecommunications company, Vodafone, in 2016, Monica conceived and helped to create a suite of Anti- Bullying Emojis for Support. The #BeStrong emojis, which are a free download, make it easier to show support to targets of bullying when words sometimes fail us – especially teens.

Today Monica works with several anti-bullying organizations, including as an Ambassador to both the Diana Award's Anti-Bullying Programme in the UK and Bystander Revolution in the US. She also supports Project Rockit, Ditch the Label, HeartMob, the Amanda Todd Legacy and The Tyler Clementi Foundation. Monica sits on the board of the Childhood Resilience Foundation. She advocates for people to #ClickWithCompassion.

Dr. Scott Poland

"Bullying and its Impact on Youth Related Suicides"

Dr. Scott Poland is an internationally recognized expert on school crisis, bullying prevention, youth violence, suicide intervention, self-injury, school safety and threat assessment. He is widely considered a pioneer in school suicide prevention, having authored one of the most respected works on the subject in his 1989 book entitled, Suicide Intervention in the Schools. He is also the Past Prevention Division Director for the American Association of Suicidology. Dr. Poland recently co-authored Suicide in Schools (2015), which provides school-based professionals with practical, easy-to-use guidance on developing and implementing effective suicide prevention, assessment, intervention and postvention strategies. Dr. Poland has also worked in the aftermath of hurricanes in Texas, Louisiana and Florida. He has personally been invited to eight communities to provide leadership in response to youth suicide clusters and has consulted with schools about youth suicide countless times.

Mr. Kevin Epling

"The Bully Police & a Story of Sadness and Commitment"

The loss of his son Matthew in the summer of 2002, forty days after a hazing incident has charged Kevin with making sure other children are safe from bullying, hazing and harassment in Michigan's schools. Locally he has led the charge to establish a community based awareness program: Safe Schools, Safe Communities. He has worked on state wide anti bullying legislation in Michaigan and it was named "Matt's Safe School Law" in memory of his son. Kevin has been actively telling his story to numerous civic, educational and parent groups, have been featured on CNN, The Mitch Albom Show and several other local and regional news outlets. Kevin continues to be one of the most sought after speakers in the area of youth related Bullying and Hazing and will share their impactful story with the attendees of this event.
